Making it!

This was the year that Troubadour staff members blasted out of the traditional mold to establish a more up-to-date, with-it look. Sparked by dynamic editor Lulu Martinez, a handful of dedicated staffers were determined to make 1980 an outstanding book. In the process they worked many hours, shared many laughs, consumed countless hamburgers and cokes, and spent a fortune on onion rings to feed ace photographer Rich Nieves. It was well worth it!

Spirit boosters set lively pace

Creative routines more complex and sophisticated than those of previous years were the trademark of the 1980 Pep Squad. Urged on by the contagious vitality of Chris Chronis, this avid corps of spirit boosters, coaxed both student and community fans to come alive. Their efforts extended to all school activities. Sponsor Cheryl Boyden characterized them as "a unique group" with their own individual style. Certainly the daily routine of campus life would have been much duller without their colorful presence and their non-stop flow of enthusiastic activity.

The 1980 song artists kept up a lively pace for the year with their many new and varied routines. The result was one of the best years yet. Tribute to a friend

He is a friendly, soft spoken man who is proud of his family, his work, and Lennox High. Mark Silvertooth was here when LHS welcomed its first students. His two sons are Lancer graduates. He had only to cross the street to be on his job as grounds and buildings supervisor, and keeping the campus a clean and pleasant place for everyone was his top work priority. For 22 years this dedicated man achieved that goal.

But nothing remains constant, and last October Silvertooth left LHS to move to Texas and go into business with his brother. We all miss him, for he is one of us. Silvertooth helped to build much of what is best about Lennox, and his name looms large in our history. Thank you, friend, and good luck!

Above: Many students, teachers, administrators, and co-workers have been fortunate to know and to respect Mark Silvertooth as a friend. He is a man who "looks for the best in everyone." Left: The Silvertooth family greets their many friends at the retirement party which honored years of outstanding service and dedication.

Varsity runners stride to CIF

Strengthened by the return of five experienced runners from last year's squad, the varsity cross country team started their season with an excellent chance to win a Pioneer League championship.

Strong performances by Culver City and Inglewood and a close one point loss to the El Segundo Eagles brought an end to these dreams.

However, under the careful guidance of new coach Dennis James, the Lancers placed third in the league and then went on to the league finals, where they qualified for the CIF prelims.

Top runner for LHS was Leroy Collins, who placed third at the league meet. Two other standouts were Ricardo Gonzalez and Willie Alvarico. Throughout the season strong support was given by Raul Ponce, Eloy Soto, Sergio Yepez, and John Alcala.

Award recipients for the year were Leroy Collins, outstanding runner; Willie Alvarico, coach's award; and Ricardo Gonzalez, most inspirational. Chosen as tri-captains were veteran runners Raul Ponce, Leroy Collins, and Ricardo Gonzalez.

Young runners show promise

Although none of the members of the 1979 JV cross country squad had ever run competitively, this inexperience presented little problem in achieving a successful season.

Capitalizing on the strength of undefeated League champion Aaron Pratt and their will to excel, the JV's captured second place honors in the Pioneer League standings.

Head coach Dennis James, who had the job of keeping his novice runners motivated through the low points of the season, was a key factor in the team's fine over-all performance.

Cross country gains new look

For the first time in its history, Lennox High had a girls' cross country team. Under first year coach Dennis James, the determined five girl squad went through many long hours of strenuous training and conditioning exercises.

At the end all the hard work paid off as the Lancer runners finished third at League finals to qualify for CIF competition. Seniors Ruth Culqui and Ena Heredia set the pace for the enthusiastic girls, displaying great consistency throughout the first season of cross country participation.

Pinto takes top volleyball honors

With no starters returning from last year, Coach Wheeler's 1979 volleyball team set about developing their skills, understanding of the game, and ability to perform together as a team.

The girls showed great hustle and togetherness in heartbreaking losses to taller, more experienced squads from Morningside, El Segundo, and Redondo. With enthusiasm undiminished, they came back to knock an excellent Leuzinger team out of second place, defeating them on their back-to-school night.

Reina Pinto was team captain and most valuable player. Pinto also received second team All-League honors. Cris Garcia was selected as the best team player, and Ana Colon was voted most improved.

JV's look good

This year's junior varsity spikers posted a proud 5-7 record in tough Pioneer League competition. Like the varsity, the JV's often found themselves facing teams that were much taller and a great deal more experienced than the locals.

Despite this handicap, the girls came away with victories against Centennial, Leuzinger, Redondo, and Morningside. According to Coach Ron Elliott the lively Lancer spikers looked good even in defeat, losing some crucial matches by very narrow margins.

At the close of the season, Olga Martinez was honored as the team's most valuable player, while Dennisse Mercado was named most improved player. With the enthusiasm they demonstrated and the skills they learned this year, many JV players look forward to a successful varsity season in 1980.

Varsity endures tough season

With 13 returning lettermen, varsity gridders approached the 1979 season with great expectations of a winning year. These high hopes were quickly demolished as the Lancers, seemingly unable to hit upon any winning strategy, ended the season with a hapless 0-7 league record.

With the resignation of Coach Mark Jacobs just two days before the opening of school, Don Bohannon assumed the rather formidable task of molding the group into a smoothly functioning grid machine. Despite great effort and the excellent rapport established with the players, this miracle was not to be achieved during this season.

One of the lowest points of competition was the defeat by the Lawndale Cardinals and the loss of the prestigious trophy to the crosstown rivals.

Once again Andre Brooks was the standout player of the year. Brooks was named All-League as well as most valuable player. Doyle Kosmata was best offensive player; Raymond Soria, best on defense; and Alfredo Calvillo, most improved competitor.

Young team draws a blank

With 13 sophomores playing on the varsity, first year coaches Shipp and Mooton were left with mostly inexperienced freshmen on their Frosh/Soph football squad.

Hurt by this depletion of their ranks and playing against larger schools with more experienced players, the young gridders were unable to capture a single victory.

The highlight of the grid year was an exciting contest against Harvard which ended in a close 8-6 loss for the locals. However, in this game the Lancers played the best defense of their diasppointing season.

Special recognition was given to Carlos Flores for outstanding offense; Arthur Valenzuela, outstanding defense; and Tim Nelson, outstanding linebacker. Juan Ortiz won the coaches' award, and Alex Neira was honored as most outstanding player.

Varsity netters come on strong

Showing competitive spirit and drive, the varsity tennis team closed their season with a 4-6 record. Every match was closely contested, with four of the losses being decided by two sets or less.

The steady play of singles players Jennifer Roles (23-7) and Maria Kosmetatos (19-11) and the strong performances of the doubles team of Luz Rivera and Alice Houston (25-5) were the squad's major strengths.

Honors as outstanding singles player went to Jennifer Roles, while Alice Houston and Luz Rivera were named as No. 2 doubles team in the League. Barbara Nikkel won the most improved player award.

A proud Coach Marian Kovinick commented, "The prospects for next year are bright, with all but seniors Alice Houston and Maria Kosmetatos returning. We'll be ready."

Varsity almost makes history

After knocking off the Hawthorne Cougars, defending league champs, 78-61 in the opening game of the season, the varsity basketball team went on to edge out a strong Miraleste squad by two points.

It was a great start for Coach Gutierrez and his charges. Then the bubble burst. Lennox lost the next game against the El Segundo Eagles by two points, the first of three close defeats for the locals.

The most crucial of these losses was the heart-breaking 67-66 defeat by Harvard. A win here would have ensured the Lancers entry into the CIF play-offs for the first time in school history.

Mike Haney and Raul Ponce were selected to the All-League first and second teams respectively. Senior guards George Lopez and Felipe Darrell provided good shooting and expert passing throughout the season, while forward Leroy Collins led the team in steals and consistent performance.

Kevin Rachall, Jeff Davis, and Leonard Bardere will be back to bolster next year's varsity ranks.

New faces were the key to a successful Frosh-Soph basketball season. Coach Marty Siegal and players Wesley Russell, Jerome Bell, and Barrett Miller were the new blood in a fine motion offense and over-all balanced attack that resulted in a second place standing in league competition.

Looking back over the 10-4 season record, Coach Siegal commented, "I thought our size would hurt us, but our quickness more than made up for it."

One of the season's highlights was the exciting win over Harvard, when the Lancers sank two free throws in the last seconds of play to edge out their opponents and take the important victory.

Strong all-around performers for the Lancer youngsters were Pat Gray, defense; Alfonso Cameron, shooting; Allan Sarnowski, defense and number of steals; and Octavius Knox, rebounds.

Varsity booters just miss CIF

The varsity booters entered league play with hopes of making the CIF play-offs. Despite impressive victories over Lawndale and Morningside, the Lancers dropped close contests to powerful opponents Hawthorne, Aviation, and Culver City.

Their CIF hopes were kept alive until the final game of the season against the Inglewood Sentinels, which the locals lost 2-0. Although the team failed in its bid for a CIF berth, the players made an outstanding effort to win and showed steady improvement as the season progressed.

Jesse Diaz was a consistent player on defense, while Luis De la Pena and Jorge Carrera contributed strength in the halfback spots. The fantastic speed of forward Javier Luna combined with the work of talented midfielder Sergio Yepez and the scoring punch of Daniel Velazquez to make the Lancers a colorful team to watch in action.

Young players display courage

A young but enthusiastic JV soccer team that never gave up posted a very respectable season record of five wins, four losses, and two tie games.

The junior booters displayed their come-from-behind spirit of determination in the final game against Inglewood. With 10 minutes left to play, trailing 1-3, the JV's pressed on to end with a 3-3 tie.

Among the outstanding players was Guillermo Quant, who gave mobility to the forward line and assisted in many goals. Arturo Valenzuela was a key player in the midfield, providing strong help for the forward line; and Carlos Gonzales showed his potential of becoming a top flight center fullback.

Stated Coach Jose Gutierrez, "I was very happy to coach this team, and it was a satisfaction to see them try so hard to win."

Puyol earns league honors

Although this year's varsity basketball squad was very young and inexperienced, as the season progressed a strong defensive team emerged from the practice and hard work.

The season ended on a high note when the Lancers scored a 35-25 victory over arch rival Hawthorne. Their 4-6 league record earned Lennox a fourth place spot in the final Pioneer League standings.

Seniors who played a big part in the season's competition were forwards Jana Butts and Maria Kosmetatos and guard Oraida Alfonso. Strength and size were added by juniors Tammy Puyol, who was named to the first team All-League, and Ardis Carnes, guard.

Sophomores Hettie Price and Barbara Rodriguez gained experience playing the tight "press" guard positions. The only freshman on the team achieved distinction by copping a place on the second team All-League.

JV's try hard

Although they were a hardworking, enthusiastic group, the girls' JV basketball team failed to win any of their league games.

Among the eight losses, however, were several close battles which kept the season interesting and the spirits up.

The standout performance in league play came when Lennox forced an excellent Beverly Hills team into overtime before finally dropping the game to the Norman foes.

Captains for the Lancer squad were Beverly Hunter and Patrice Knox, with Knox being chosen as most valuable player.

Despite the winless season, Coach Wheeler stated, "The experience these young girls gained should provide a strong base for an improved varsity next year."

Track makes big comeback

After a year's absence, track reappeared on the Lancer spring sports schedule. Because of their late organizing date, the 1980 tracksters could not participate in the Pioneer League, but they were eligible to enter league finals to qualify for CIF.

As the Troubadour went to press, Lennox had been edged out 65-61 by powerhouse El Segundo. All other meets had been cancelled because of bad weather.

In early season competition top performers for the varsity were Adrian Booker, Richard Nieves, Leroy Collins, Raul Ponce, David Haygood, and Sergio Yepez.

This year saw the debut of a girls' team, featuring mostly distance oriented runners with little experience. Among feminine competitors Ena Heredia seemed headed for success in the mile and two mile events.

The Soph-Frosh squad displayed excellent potential in practice and early season competition. Speedburners Carlos Gonzalez and Gus Veitia, high jumper James McGhee, and distance runners David Saenz and Alex Neira all showed great promise.

Coach Dennis James had the formidable task of coaching all three squads. Despite the overall lack of depth, James had high hopes that several of his charges would make it into league finals.

Sluggers are key to season

Hopes were high as five veteran players, including All-League center fielder Julio Veitia, returned to bolster the 1980 varsity baseball squad.

With two sophomores and a freshman in the lineup, the Lancers lost to a strong St. Monica team 4-1, but came back to defeat Chaminade 9-3. Sophomore ace pitcher Craig Gutman picked up the win.

Other players displaying early season talent were Nick Cepeda, Osberto Geno, Gary Atherton, Mirko Merencio, Fernando Fernandez, Rodney Meyer, and Julio Veitia.

Coach Dan Noval summed up the situation in these words: "Our pitching is young and untested, but our infield is solid with experience. We could have a good year."

As the Troubadour went to press, the JV baseball nine had a 1-0-1 record, having been rained out of much pre-season practice.

Solid performances were turned in by Carlos Mercado at third; Anthony Hampton, center field; Ricardo Ibarra, short stop; and Allan Sarnowski, catcher.

Coach George Ibarra feels his JV charges have much potential and should end high up in their league competition.

Netmen need more depth

Rain, cancelled matches, and a shortage of players—this was the story of the Lancer netmen when the Troubadour went to press.

Although there was no chance that the varsity, coached by Don Young, could win any league matches, individual players were eligible to go into the league playoffs.

Returning varsity players were Rafael Garrido and Jose Formosa, first and second singles; and Ben Salas and Danny Rodriguez, first doubles team. Carlos Culqui and Stuart Lenszyk rounded out the squad.

The top ranking JV netmen were Rodrigo Nieto, Raul Alonso, and Sergio Hernandez. Coach Marian Kovinick was in charge of the future varsity.

"The attitude of the players is excellent," remarked Coach Kovinick, who looks forward to some strong individual performances.

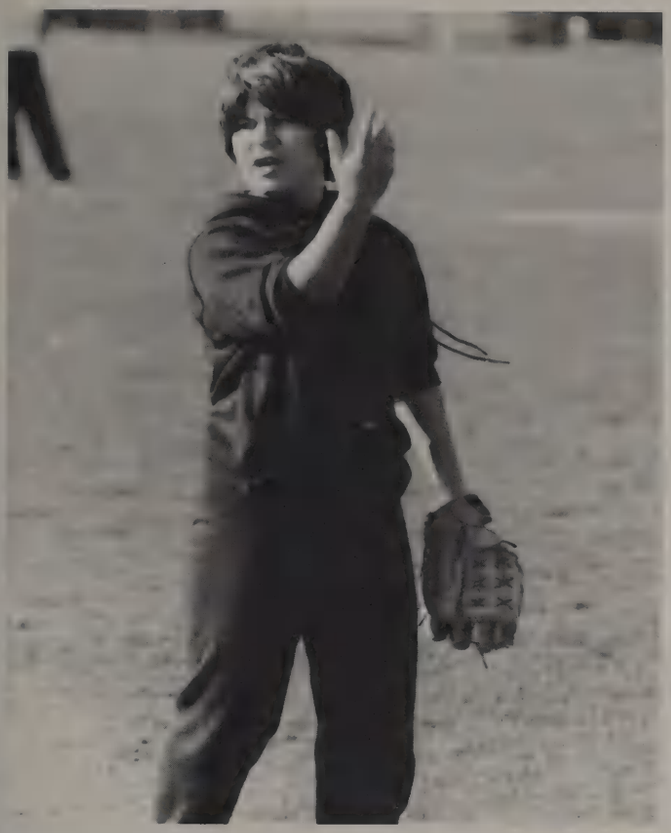
New coach, experienced team



The 1980 softball team was loaded with experience and talent. Their list of All-League candidates included Becky McFall, Jana Butts, Oraida Alfonso, Dennisse Mercado, Jackie Ellis, and Hettie Price.

At the helm was first year Coach Wheeler, who told the Troubadour reporter, "Our goal is to make it to CIF playoffs; and with the potential ability our players have, we should reach it."

Coach Wheeler also stated that strong newcomers Reina Pinto, Ana Colon, and Betty Moala would play a big part in his CIF hopes.

Again the story was one of rain and a delayed season, but teams from Culver City and Mira Costa entered the league this year, offering new competition that promises an especially challenging season.

Pep Squad invites Lancers to

From the moment they walked through the door and received a candy cane and friendly welcome, couples attending the Christmas dance were surrounded by the atmosphere of "An Old Fashioned Christmas."

Once again the Pep Squad performed their special magic to stage what advisor Cheryl Boyden termed "the best Christmas dance ever." Chairman for the successful event was Lisa Hosale, who worked with Marjorie Bautista to provide beautiful decorations.

"What! You want five glasses of punch!" The thirst of the dancers keeps Dora Jasper and Kathy Begg (1) busy.

The world is a place for friendship to AFS clubs who seek to experience and understand foreign cultures and different ways of life.

The motto of the organization sums up their goals in these words: "Walk Together, Talk Together, All the Peoples of the world."

In the words of advisor Lee Hayashi, "Perhaps as we meet people from all corners of the earth, American Field Service can bring about brotherhood and understanding rather than nuclear holocaust. We can and must try."

Lennox had two outstanding representatives in the 1979 AFS Americans Abroad program. Barbara Neyra lived with a family in Sri Lanka, while Christina Chronis spent her summer in Costa Rica. This year Linda Hokanson has been selected as a finalist for a 1980 appointment.

Clubs work toward varied goals

Service to school and community is the primary purpose of the Keywanettes. Along with this worthy objective the club seeks to develop initiative and leadership. Although small in membership, the group represents the best in Lancer attitude and spirit, for their work is totally unselfish.

During the year the Keywanettes made and delivered Thanksgiving cards and valentines to the Centinela Hospital. They also organized an Easter party for pre-schoolers in Lennox.

A different kind of service was provided when Keywanettes acted as baby sitters for all PTA and board meetings for the Lennox Elementary District. As a change of pace these ever busy club members volunteered their services for the special Olympics.

President Minerva Moreno was very capably aided by Luz Rivera, vice president; Vivian Sanchez, secretary; and Jackie Palmer, historian. Caring guidance was given by advisor Judi Reed.

Led by faculty sponsor C.R. Roberts, the Legal Rights Club is dedicated to building better citizenship by seeking an understanding of the true meaning of the term equal rights.

The club is particularly interested in exploring careers related to law and equal rights. Advisor Roberts is concerned with helping members to discover and develop their full potential.

Off-campus activities included field trips and social events such as theater parties. The group underwrites their activity program with various on-campus promotions such as candy sales.

Chess and Backgammon Club—the name says it all. This group enjoys the recreational activity and mental stimulation afforded by these games and meets weekly to sharpen their playing skills.

Officers for the club were Tim Newton, president; Dennis MacGregor, vice president; and Tony Whitley, secretary/treasurer. Mr. John Sahakian served as faculty advisor for the club.

Organized last year as the Disco Club, this organization changed its name to the Dance Club in order to better reflect the full range of their interests. The purpose of the group is to provide an atmosphere for self-expression in the form of dance.

According to Ms. Catherine Schindler, club advisor, "During the year the club diversified, incorporating a variety of dances, which included Latin dances, the Wiggle, Free Style, the Rock and even Punk Rock. This was an interesting innovation."

Officers for the Dance Club were Francis Vasquez, president; Martha Delgado, vice president; and Elizabeth Montijo, secretary.

The largest and certainly one of the busiest groups on campus, the Pan American Club boasted a calendar packed with activities.

Their Christmas show featured dances from Mexico, Hawaii, Cuba, and Puerto Rico, plus poetry in Spanish. The Valentine's Dance scored a first with not one, but two, live bands to provide music.

A main attraction on the PTA Founder's Day observance was an excellent dance program presented by the club. Next came the big Cinco de Mayo carnival and show, followed by a Spanish play commemorating Mexican Mother's Day.

To celebrate their successful year in the proper style, club members journeyed to Magic Mountain for a day of fun, relaxation, and good fellowship.

First semester officers were Judah Ramirez, president; Donato Sanchez, vice president; Consuelo Yepez, secretary. Sanchez took over the presidency the second term, aided by Rosa Benitez, vice president; and Irlanda Benitez, secretary.

Reviewing the year's activities, President Sanchez said, "We take pride in doing things well and in preserving our cultural heritage.

"It has been a good year, and I wish to thank all the members for their efforts. Special thanks to Mrs. Margie Johnson for being such a good sponsor."

The campus popcorn dealers

The Lennox chapter of the California Scholarship Federation is one of the most elite groups on campus, for their membership is composed of those who have achieved a high level of academic performance.

Despite the emphasis on scholarship, CSF members do not limit their activities to study alone. They enjoy picnics, barbecues, parties, and trips to Disneyland.

They are also the popcorn experts of the campus, using proceeds from the sale of this popular snack to raise scholarship money.

Part of a statewide organization, CSF recognizes its own top members by awarding them special seals of honor on their diplomas.

The indefatigable Patsy Brierley continued as advisor this year, constantly seeking to open up more and better educational opportunities for our scholars.

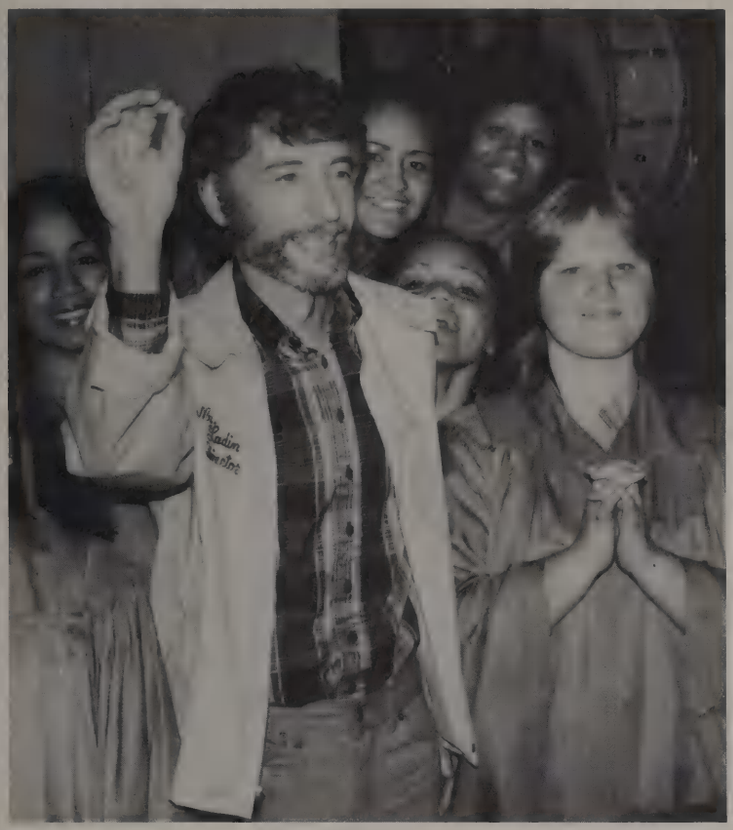
This isn't an act for Ladin, who is genuinely happy with the growth the choir has undergone.

Groups experience change



Two campus organizations underwent change during the year, although the kind of change was different.

After making its reappearance on campus in 1978, the choir experienced a welcome growth in numbers and enthusiasm.

Director Don Ladin expressed pleasure at this trend, stating, "I enjoy the choir and hope we can get more students involved, especially the male voices."

In addition to the usual Christmas and spring concerts, the musicians entertained off campus and also made their debut in the annual Lennox High Christmas rally.

Last year the Varsity Club opened its membership to women, marking the end of separate clubs for varsity athletes.

This year has been a time for the groups to adjust to each other's different styles of working in order to find the most efficient method of functioning.

Aided by advisors Charles Armstrong and Sharon King, the Varsity Club held gym nights, barbecues, dances, and candy sales to raise money for tournament entry fees, awards, and Varsity Club patches.

Hailed as one of the most outstanding social occasions of the year, "Out of the Blue" was under the direction of Donna Bax, Sheri Wooden, and Ms. Edel Alonso, faculty sponsor.

Leaders seek more student involvement

September brought the usual flurry of back-to-school activities. Led by President Maria Kosmetatos, student council plunged into Homecoming and Charities Week plans, competition rallies, and CVDIC sessions.

As the year progressed and the inevitable apathy began to set in, a concerned council tried hard to keep the pace lively and the students involved.

One of the most interesting and productive undertakings was a series of small group meetings where individuals met to discuss many phases of student life.

Second semester saw a shifting of roles. Christina Chronis took over as president. Karen Simonek replaced Christina as vice president; Ruth Culqui assumed Karen's duties as secretary-treasurer.

Spring Sports Week and the annual carnival were major activities in a term which also featured donkey basketball, noon concerts, and some special assemblies.

People We Know

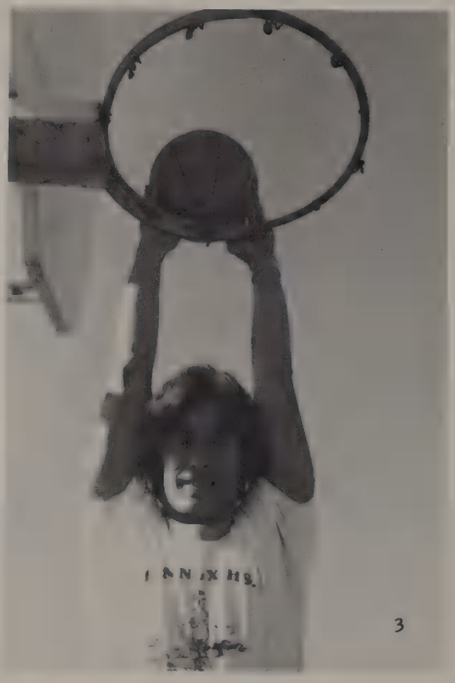
These are the faces of Lennox—the many people we will remember, for they are the heart and soul of Lennox High.

Mighty '80—the class that tops all the others!

Each one a unique personality, the senior officers had one common goal: to make the Class of '80 the best in Lennox history.

Four years on the honor roll, Girls' State representative, CIF in tennis—these are a few accomplishments of second semester president Maria Kosmetatos. (1) Busy Maria likes to read and eat anything with cheese. She credits Mrs. Lynch as having the greatest influence on her at LHS.

First semester president Leroy Collins (2), tennis, basketball, cross country, and track standout, supports President Carter for re-election and favors drafting women. He likes the color green and lists respect as an important quality for friendship.



On a lazy afternoon, you might find Cheryl Shavers (4) watching sports, listening to mellow music, or writing a letter. Vice president and secretary, Cheryl is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students." She opposes drafting women because "nature hasn't planned it that way."

Slim, blonde Sheri Wooden (5), first semester secretary, has worked as a salesclerk where she learned vital lessons in how to communicate with others. Sheri likes to ride horseback, swim, watch Robert Redford and Richard Gere. She sees inflation and Russia as the major problems of today.

All officers salute sponsors Edel Alonso, Charles Armstrong, and Charles Hamilton as the best!

Escorting the Homecoming Queen was a memorable event for second semester vice president Raul Ponce (3). Raul, whose true love is basketball, plans to go into computer science. He thinks it might be fun to go to Argentina because "I heard they have a lot of beautiful women and not enough men!"

MIGHTY 80

THE BEST CLASS IN LENNOX HISTORY.
BEST 4 YEARS OF MY LIFE (so far) LM

1979-80 Grid Queen Christina Chronis and Escort Raul Ponce

Christina Chronis named Queen

The coveted honor of 1979-80 Grid Queen went to a radiant Christina Chronis. Elected to serve in her court were Patty Versteegh, Rita Camberos, Julie Campos, and Norma Hernandez, class princesses.

Marking a depature from past ceremonies, the identities of the queen and princesses were not revealed until the night of the homecoming game, when they were honored at special half time ceremonies.

Queen Christina . . . the 17 year old senior with sparkling hazel eyes looks upon this honor as a major highlight. "A total shock!" commented Chris. "It was great." However, she prefers the old homecoming format to the "new look" used this year.

Senior Princess Patty Versteegh . . . blonde, green-eyed Patty was escorted by Leroy Collins for the coronation festivities. "It was all very exciting and unexpected," said Patty, "and I loved it."

Junior Princess Rita Camberos . . . dynamic 16 year old Rita described her reaction, saying, "I felt a chill down my body, and I felt very good inside." Her escort for the evening was Mirko Merencio.

Sophomore Princess Julie Campos . . . "I was very excited and even shocked that I had won. It was a great privilege." Escorted by Mario Espinosa, Julie likes "the old way of celebrating homecoming."

Freshman Princess Norma Hernandez . . . the brown-haired newcomer, who was escorted by Tim Nelson, also expressed a preference for the traditional Grid Queen format, but stated, "I was surprised to hear my name called, but I was proud and happy."

7

1. Patty Versteegh, senior princess. 2. Rita Camberos, junior princess. 3. Julie Campos, sophomore princess. 4. Norma Hernandez, freshman princess. 5. The suspense is ended as Rita Camberos hears she has won. 6. Excited princesses tour the field to receive plaudits from the crowd. 7. The 1979-80 Homecoming Court and escorts meet their public.

Class seeks a victory

Motto: '81 shines in the sun. Mascot: koala bear. Dream: to win a class competition.

Rita Camberos (1), second semester vice president, likes tacos, pepper steak, the "Commodores," and wishes parents were more involved in school activities.

Second semester secretary Sandra deSeriere (2) is interested in child psychology, enjoys the Mr. Bill Show, and believes women should be included in the draft.

Lisa Trespalacios (3), president, second semester, loves dancing and her Science Fiction class. She feels that "trust and being there when needed are important qualities in friendship."

Talented artist and outstanding singles tennis player, Jennifer Roles (4), first semester treasurer, especially enjoys creative writing and Mr. D.

First term secretary Colleen Houston (5) prefers pizza, yogurt, enchiladas, Nike Nolte, Kris Kristopherson, and Senator Kennedy for president.

Canadian born Linda Matthews, first semester VP plans to study marine biology. She recommends "The Rocky Horror Picture Show" for entertainment and favors President Carter.

Football fan and second semester treasurer Herbert Calvillo (7) likes "A Tale of Two Cities," Ronald Reagan, Bo Derek, and "having so many different nationalities here at Lennox."

First semester president Martha Maia (8) believes the gas shortage is real and the U.S. should be stronger militarily. Cheerleaders' camp was a highlight of her LHS career.

Popcorn lovers stand in line to feed their habit.

Sophs hope to be the "Class of the Decade"

1

Meet the leaders who worked to make the Class of '82 a class to remember. Indeed, second semester president Becky McFall (1) wants this to be "the best class of the decade."

Action oriented Becky enjoys reading biographies, likes to work with people, and feels that sports have been the greatest influence in her life at Lennox.

The idea of a career in show business excites first semester secretary Julie Campos (2). Julie believes in work, following the philosophy, "If you want to be a top banana, you have to start at the bottom of the bunch."

5

First semester president Joey Collins (3) has been an active member of student council and relishes participating in all the noon activities, whether it's holding up the class pyramid or pushing a pie into the face of some unlucky volunteer.

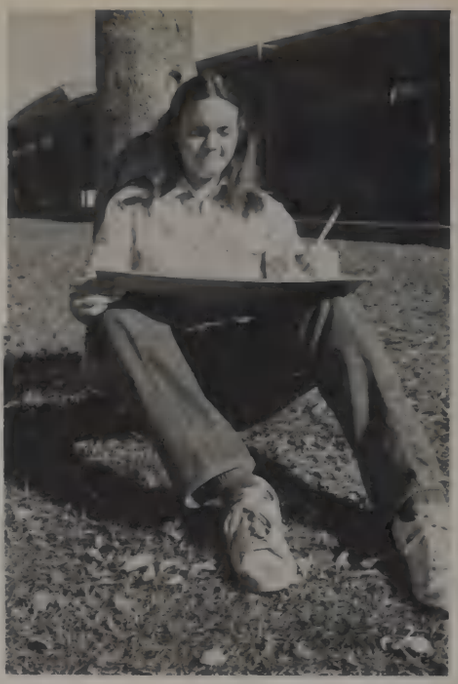
Cuban born Barbara Rodriguez (4), second term vice president, plays a great variety of sports although basketball is her specialty. Barbara likes disco dancing, salsa, punk rock, and mysteries. She roots for the Dallas Cowboys and USC.

A pizza loving Burt Reynolds fan named Laura Atherton (5) served as first semester vice president. Laura plans to go to cosmotology school, is in favor of drafting women, and believes that the shortage of natural resources is our major problem today.



Petite brunette Rowena Manlagnit (6), second semester secretary, especially appreciates the small, relaxed campus at Lennox, Rowena puts ice cream, pizza, roller skating, and the color purple on her list of favorites.

Dispensing advice and help to the officers were sponsors Mrs. Patsy Brierley, Mr. Donald Dunn, and Mrs. Cathy Ghiglione.

Class of '83 wants 1 to make it to the top

First semester secretary Andy Campos (1) has many interests which include "Romeo and Juliet", Raquel Welch, pizza, Mork and Mindy, and body building.

The athletically inclined Andy has participated in football and baseball at Lennox and plays miniature golf for fun.

Alex Neira (2), first semester president, likes to surf and dreams of going to Hawaii on a surfing holiday.

Alex listens to Led Zepplin, prefers the color orange, and goes out for football and track.

Kim Walker (3-left), second semester president, set a goal to get her class out of fourth place in the rally competition.

When asked what three wishes she would like granted, Kim answered, "Peace among all countries, release of the hostages, and Dodgers to win the series."

Teresa King (3) became second semester vice president to try to help the class become as spirited as the current seniors.

She seizes every opportunity to go to the beach to get tan, reads love stories, and can eat pizza at any time, anywhere.

Second semester secretary Ana Cusidor (4) likes the wide open spaces of the farmlands.

Asked if she would like to trade places with someone else for a year, Ana replied, "Yes. Jimmy Carter. I think we should have a woman as president."

On the light side, David Lee Roth, Nick Nolte, Steve Martin, and lasagna are on Ana's list of favorite people and things.

Advisors who gave guidance to the Class of '83 were Mrs. Gail Waterman, Mrs. Janice Edmond, and Mr. Carroll Hauser.

Spirit soars . . .

In a festive atmosphere of balloons, brilliantly colored posters, wildly imaginative personal decorations, and fast moving entertainment, Lancers celebrated their annual Spring Sports Week.

The suspense built steadily as everyone waited to learn who would be elected to the Spring Sports Court.

Then came the final announcement—"The 1980 King—Felipe Darrell. Your Queen—Gloria Jaquez." And these new names were written into our history.

The camera captures the emotions of the new king and queen.

Now a word about our leaders

Vice Principal Dan Finnegan is a man who has not limited himself to the field of education.

He has been in the IBM management program, sales, the stock exchange, the Air Force, and was a TWA summer employee.

Before becoming assistant principal, Finnegan taught English, coached, and was Director of Student Activities here at Lennox.

It is not unusual to see him dressed in his uniform on the way to referee a soccer game, one of his favorite pastimes.

Commenting on LHS, Finnegan said, "I would like to see a more extensive shop program and have every student involved in school activities in some way."

Principal Marie Boryan can't remember a time when she didn't want to teach, for she has always liked to work with young people.

Travel is her favorite recreational activity, especially visiting unusual places that are off the beaten tourist paths.

A dynamic woman of boundless energy, Boryan also likes to spend time at her home in Palm Springs where she relaxes by swimming, gardening, and walking.

When asked what she likes best about Lennox, Boryan responded, "The warmth and friendliness possible with a small student body is special. I am proud of the way the students get along together, and I love working here."

Assistant Principal Ronald Tyler, who served in the second armored division, would have been a career army officer had he not gone into the educational field.

A graduate of the University of California at Santa Barbara in industrial arts, the disciplined, well-organized VP has taught printing, woodworking, and drafting at Leuzinger and Lawndale.

Asked what impresses him about Lennox, Tyler immediately replied, "The students' ability to cope with many situations.

"In almost every instance where you have the opportunity to sit down and work with them, they are able to recognize their problems and develop alternatives."

Holmes retires

When LHS opened its doors in 1957, William Holmes was there to greet the first students. Now after more than 30 years of service in the public school system, the veteran teacher-counselor plans to take early retirement and move to Northern California.

Over the years the cheerful, positive thinking Holmes has helped countless students, sharing both the good and the bad times.

Reviewing his years at Lennox, Holmes mused, "You may find this hard to believe, but I have enjoyed every day!

"Every year I make new friends and treasure my contacts with the old. Twenty-three years of friendships provide a lifetime of happy memories for me."

Grateful Lancers wish their friend success, happiness, and good health in his new career in the investment field.

Retiring counselor William Holmes (1), who has cleaned his desk for the final time, bids farewell to co-workers Edel Alonso, Robert Rice, and Jan Wieberg. Director of Activities Bill Calder (2) waits for the next deluge of work. Regina Adams (left) and Betty Zeitler (3) serve as secretaries to the assistant principals and counselors. They also help the steady flow of Lancers passing through their office. A new face at LHS, Mary Koerner (4) left Leuzinger to become secretary to Miss Boryan.

Faculty leads the way

The year opened with 43 veteran faculty members welcoming eight new additions to their ranks.

Missing from the faculty line up were the "old" familiar countenances of Mark Jacobs, Kathy Secan, and Allan Stein, long time art instructor.

As in past years, these diverse personalities quickly blended to get the school year off to one of the smoothest starts in LHS history.

(1) In an intraschool shuffle Ms. Judy Grood, here with aide Julie Rossil (left), moved from journalism at Hawthorne to LHS language development classes. (2) Edelma Espinosa and Carlos Culqui welcome Ms. Janice Edmon (center) to the math department, while our favorite substitute teacher Mrs. Lola Sides (3) stepped in as eleventh hour replacement for Mark Jacobs, taking over the Career Comp classes.

Duties as Athletic Director, P.E. teacher, and 100% loyal Lancer fan keep Mr. Charles Armstrong (4) busy. English instructor Mrs. Fran Rinks (5) brings enthusiasm and a warm sense of humanity to her work in the classroom and to the early morning meetings scheduled by the department chairman Mr. Jerry Helpin (6). Writing and historical research are prime interests of Mr. Phil Kovinick (7) who teaches U.S. History and Government. (8) Her never failing willingness to help and steady encouragement and concern for the individual are the characteristics students appreciate most about Mrs. Mimi Butler.

Teachers display variety of interests

Lennox teachers do more than just teach. They can be found running, hiking, skiing, remodeling homes, teaching college, doing income tax accounting, working on advanced degrees, making films, catering, writing, gardening, refereeing, etc., etc., etc!

Music man Norman Furutani (1) produced another excellent band, but his proudest production of the year was a baby son. (2) "Onward and upward!" Mrs. Jeanette Baugh holds firm in her belief that U.S. History has many important lessons to teach. Despite a shortage of material, Coach Marian Kovinick (3) always develops tennis teams which bring credit to Lennox. Lancer English classes gained valuable teaching expertise when veteran instructor Mrs. Kathleen Perry (4) transferred here from Lawndale High.

(5) Mr. Mike Morse, former Peace Corps worker, heads the LHS math department by day and teaches college classes at night. With history galloping at a rapid pace, it isn't easy for Mr. Donald Dunn's Modern History students (6) to keep the focal areas of action identified. Here's a light-hearted moment as Mr. Mark Logsdon (7) punctuates his English classes with another of his famous—or is it infamous—anecdotes? (8) A puzzled Nellie Caraballo waits for help from Mr. John Sahakian, faculty expert in typing and shorthand. The study of World War II is a vivid experience as taught by Mr. Don Young (9). Often called "the general", Young also teaches P.E. classes.

Harried staff suffers from meeting mania

The 1979-80 school term was a memorable one because this was a time of massive curriculum overhaul, Stull teacher evaluations, and state accreditation. The number of meetings needed to translate all these things into reality was overwhelming to teachers and administrators.

Faculty meetings, departmental meetings, district office meetings, various committee meetings, meetings with consultants and the special interest groups—the list seemed to be a never ending one.

In the words of one faculty member, "The in-service training meeting on teacher burnout may well have been the most significant one of the entire year!"

PE instructor James Bunyard (2) tells Steve Boothe (right) how he receives his daily exercise by traveling between Hawthorne and Lennox. Mr. John Carter (3) presents his special friend to the physiology class. The active Dance Club and Spanish classes take up a large portion of Ms. Catherine Schindler's school day (4) as Ms. Diane Wells (5) concentrates on developing the full potential of art students. Fun and food is the order of the day in Ms. Judi Reed's (6) cooking classes. Choir director Don Ladin (7) appears to like what he hears. Shop teacher Wally McKenzie (8) discusses problems in auto maintenance. Wonder if he will come up with a solution to take care of the gas shortage?

They explore the work world

This year over 260 Lennox students elected to combine their academic school program with practical vocational training.

HIP, the Northrup High School Involvement Program, provides on-the-job training experience and 10 graduation credits.

Those Lancers who choose Work Experience are employed by businesses throughout the area, earning both credits and a pay check.

Career Development offers an opportunity for exploration in a chosen occupation through observation and hands-on training.

Candy Stripers, so-named because of the uniform that identifies them, are doing useful work at the Hawthorne Community Hospital and learning about the medical world.

The greatest number of students enroll in the Southern California Regional Occupational Center. Here they receive a wide variety of vocational experiences which bring them a step closer to real life.

The entire program is supervised by Mrs. Cathy Ghiglione, who told the Troubadour reporter: "It is gratifying to see students become aware of the opportunities to explore many kinds of careers and receive training and credit at the same time."
